Unleash the Power of Your Subconscious Mind

A man behind the magnificent bridge ‘Brooklyn Bridge’ progressed on his idea of innovation despite being ridiculed by the surrounded people. His firm belief in his potentialities turned out to be a piece of wonder that embarked on a new journey of development and progress.

Don't you think that this is a big question to ponder upon as to why some people who hold a stern belief in themselves emerge as the winners one day.

You all must have observed that a magnetized iron can lift a thing bigger of its own size whereas a demagnetized iron can't lift even a single feather. Similarly, a magnetized person who abounds in positive self belief and motivation gains that driving force that lands him/her in abundance, joy and success.

We all possess infinite wisdom, infinite power and infinite potentials but we turn a closed eye to them and complain of scarcity and dearth of opportunities in life whereas those who recognize this infinite power and allow it to be expressed in their acts, enjoy the beauty of life. The power of subconscious mind opens the door to illumination, upliftment and transcends us towards the discernment that embellishes our life.

Hence, we all need to cognize the potentiality of our subconscious mind that holds a treasure within and by applying that power we can accomplish bigger and greater goals than ever before.

Farewell 2023

Farewell to our young mind and May your journey be filled with boundless opportunities!

THE BEAST IN THE WOODS

Once there was a dark and mighty beast,
 In the woods upon a mountain,
 With great big claws and sharp teeth,
 And eyes filled with malice and disdain.
 He ruled the woods with unwavering strength,
 Claiming lives of beasts and poachers alike,
 Tales of his deeds travelled quite a length,
 Of how he sat patiently in the dark waiting to strike.
 The beast's skin is seared with scars,
 Reminders of the countless battles he fought,
 But there is more to this beast than meets the eye,
 For love and peace is all he sought.
 And though the beast is king of the woods,
 And all others cower before his wrath,
 Every night he suffers in desolation,
 Remembering the love that he once had.
 Every now and then however,
 the beast finds some solace,
 Looking back at days when he was just a cub,
 In his mother's warm and tender embrace.
 Now all of that is gone,
 And the beast confides in none,

As he is too afraid to hope,
 That he will find another to love.
 At night he howls at the moon,
 Hoping someone will ease his pain,
 But all he gets in return,
 Is more poachers approaching to get slain.
 You see, the beast is cursed to suffer alone,
 Till his last breath is nigh,
 Upon this mountain he was born,
 And upon this mountain he will die.
