

PROUD MOMENTS

Never forget the sacrifice of our freedom fighters who formed this country. Govt. of India is celebrating 75th Independence Day as "Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav". Jai Hind! Happy Independence Day!

The National Education Policy 2020 came into practice last year, with an idea of revamping the school and the higher education system in India. In view of completing one year of NEP – 2020, various departments at KIET Group of Institutions fostered critical thinking and new-fangled teaching-learning process by conducting an awareness program on NEP2020 in the month of August 2021. The talk emphasized on the Transformative Reforms under NEP-2020.

CELEBRATION @ KIET

KIET celebrates the birth of Lord Krishna every year and reminisces all the heroic and playful adventures Lord Krishna had during his time on Earth. This festival at KIET has always been about celebration and merriment. May this festival bring happiness, fun and positivity, and takes away all the negatives.

<< OBE WORKSHOP >>

Department of Civil Engineering conducted 5 Days Departmental Workshop/Awareness Program on OBE from 2nd August to 6th August 2021. The workshop covered all the major aspects of Outcome Based Education. The OBE workshop was very interactive and turned out to be a great learning experience for the faculty members in the domain of Outcome Based Education.

The Department of Electrical & Electronics Engineering conducted the 5 Days Departmental Workshop/Awareness Program on OBE from 9th August to 13th August 2021. The focus of the outcome-based approach is as much on the process of learning and the outcome or result as on the knowledge, skill, and attitude.

The Department of Computer Applications organized an “Outcome Based Education (OBE) Awareness Program” from 9th Aug 2021 to 13th Aug 2021. An OBE curriculum means starting with a clear picture of what is important for students to be able to do, organizing the curriculum, instruction and assessment to make sure this learning ultimately happens (Spady, 1994).

<< YOUNG FACULTY SPEAKS >>

“It's Okay NOT to Feel Okay!”

By:- Dr. Chetna Sinha, Assistant Professor, HS&S Department

Following weeks of rigorous restrictions, as the world witnesses a slow decline in the Corona Virus disease cases, most of the States have started to ease restrictions on several public activities and allow businesses to resume to normal operations. However, reopening is not, and can never be, back to normal.

The harshness and ferocity of COVID-19 (lockdown, opening, restricted lockdown, and reopening) has led to a massive change in our daily lives, mostly abrupt & quick. For some the transition might feel smooth and they may have already gone through the adjustment process and have found comfort in the new norms in personal as well as professional life.

However, for many of us the journey to the new normal have been a roller coaster ride – full of physical, emotional, and financial turbulence amidst many other things.

But we must not forget that at times it's okay not to feel okay. This situation is both temporary and uncertain and we aren't alone in the adjustment process.

What we earnestly need to do is to shift our focus away from being able to 'fix' everything. We should rather indulge in things that make us feel positive in order to restore balance and most importantly keep trying and seek support, if needed.

Fortunately, this 'SUPPORT' is already available at the KIET Group of Institutions. The Institution had paved different ways to counsel and motivate its Faculty & Staff members to increase their efficiency and productivity at the workplace. For the same intentions, Institute's Emotional Wellness Coach - YourDOST, is available 24*7 (Online), to guide and deal with anything that may be keeping you away from being your better self. You can always seek professional support from Experts with complete confidentiality, anonymity and privacy.

<< WEBINARS >>

The will to win, the desire to succeed, the urge to reach your full potential... These are the keys that will unlock the door to excellence.” —Confucius. The Department of Electrical and Electronics Engineering of KIET Group of Institutions has always strived continuously to achieve excellence. A Centre of Excellence for Electric Mobility was inaugurated on 14th August 2021 by Dr. Frede Blaabjerg, a pioneer in the field of Power Electronics from the University of Denmark. We are sure, many budding engineers will create e-vehicles to combat climate change.

KIET School of Pharmacy has organized a Student Alumni Interaction on the Topic “Path to build a career in Pharmacy after graduated from India to Abroad”. The session was taken by Ms. Ayushi Kaushik, passed-out proud alumni of KSOP from (2012-2016) batch. Currently, she is pursuing MS in Drug Safety from Rutgers University, New York. Almost 75 students and 15 faculty were witnessed the informative Student-Alumni Interaction.

A 5 days webinar was organized by VE-CELL, KIET Groups of institutions, Delhi-NCR from 17th-21st August 2021 online. More than 40 faculty members of RCCV Girls Degree College participated in this program with full enthusiasm.

KIET School of Pharmacy organized a Guest Talk cum Career Guidance for the preparation of Drug Inspector on the topic “Current Scenario and Future Prospects of Medical Devices” on 13th August 2021. An Eminent Speaker of the talk was Dr. Amal Kumar, Drugs Inspector-cum-Medical Device Officer, Drugs, Cosmetics, and Medical Devices Law Enforcement Service, Bihar.

“A consistent and heart-filled effort to completion is the foundation of excellent work.”

The end of 6 weeks Summer Internship Program (SIP'21) lifts the students in the right direction of their career path with refreshed vigor. Department congratulates its students for scaling new heights and setting new standards. May all the students have the same zeal to participate, learn, progress, and achieve whatever comes in their path of life.

The DSDL Center of Excellence and the Department of CSE, in collaboration with deeplearning.ai is proud to organize the Ghaziabad region's third Pie & AI workshop titled “Introduction to Drones and AI” (deeplearning.ai/events) on 25th August 2021.

Department of Electrical and Electronics Engineering of KIET Group of Institutions is happy to be propagating the message of Unnat Bharath Abhiyan.
