<< YOUNG FACULTY SPEAKS >>

“Digital Transformation & Learning Outcomes of 2021 @KIET”

By:- Mr. Vinay Ahlawat, Associate Dean & Head IT Operations

The world has seen a lot of transformation in higher education during pandemic. Since the first phase of pandemic had almost collapsed the ongoing functioning of the institutes.

Despite these setbacks, E-Learning division is developed by the institute where faculty members were benefitted with the training on video recording and editing. More than 5000 self-shoot videos are uploaded on KIET Career Maestro, YouTube channel. The links of all the recorded videos along with the study material have been provided to the students through Moodle LMS. We also encouraged our students, faculty and staff members to enhance their knowledge through MOOC courses and resulting that more than 12000 certifications successfully completed on Coursera only. KIET Knowledge Resource Centre is also developed where e-books, e-journals, NDLI, previous year question paper with solution and important links to various learning platforms are available. Addressing the requirement of weaker students and interaction with the parents were continued through online mode. That’s how we have developed digital ecosystem so that digital learning could not fade away.

Now WE KIETians believe in BEING DIGITAL rather than THINK DIGITAL.
